We give below the Circular of Mr. James G. King, calling a meeting of those interested in the Merchants Exchange property. This is a highly important matter, involving two millions of property; and as the affairs will no doubt undergo a legal investigation, it would be advisable for all the stock and bond-holders to watch the operations of the Trentae closely. We therefore advise all who are in-the Trustee closely. We therefore advise all who are interested to attend the meeting called in this Circular. It is terested to attend the meeting catted in this Circuiar. It is highly important that the affairs of the Company should be put into proper hands, and not be left to the management of a few, whose interest in the Company may be secondary to that elsewhere. It will be noticed that the meeting is called CIRCULAR. Six: Under a mortgage given to me by the 'Merchants'

Extract of a letter dated Providence, April 4, 1812:
Sir—The notice in your paper, some days since, of the caution required in selecting the proper medicines to be used in difficult cases, reminds me to say that I have been misled and prevented from a speedy restoration to health by the use of a mixture purchased in this city called Sarsapurilla, which, without examination, I supposed to be the article recommended so highly by you and others for scrofula and diseases of the skin. I have been troubled for years with an itching, a burning and painful humor, which at times has appeared in large blotches and terminated in running sores. After using the pretended Sarsaparilla till I became discouraged without relief, I sent to Mr. Sands himself in New-York, by the advice of a physician, and obtained half a dozen bottles of the real extract. I have as yet used only four of these, and already feel like a new man. Some of my friends declare they should not know me in a strange place; and with the aid of two or three bottles more I feel confident I shall so completely eradicate the troublesome complaint that I shall never suffer from it again.

MRS. ELLIS'S NEW WORK. Beautifully printed, in Octavo, price 25 cents.
THE WIVES OF ENGLAND,

RELATIVE DUTIES, DOMESTIC INFLUENCE, SOCIAL OBLIGATIONS. SOCIAL OBLIGATIONS.
BY MRS. E.L.LIS.
Author of "The Women of England," "The Daughters of England," &c. .. The nnexampled success attending the works of this giftd writer in behalf of the moral elevation of her sex, has placed her at once at the head of the female authors of any country. The gentle and benign spirit, which is diffused through her various productions, awaken a ready response of the heart to integrity and faithfulness. She appears as a sort of universal mother of her sex, counselling and warning her children upon subjects that most intimately affect their weal or woe; and this she does with the deep fondness of a Niobe, yet with the stern inflexibility of a Minerva. Her writings exhibit throughout the keenest perception and accuracy of discrimination, coupled with sobriety of judgement, delicacy of sentiment, warmth of feeling, and nicety of adaptation; and above all, a sweet Christian charity which pervades every page. al9 It HARPER & BROTHERS PUBLISH PILGRIMS OF THE RHINE, 19 Thills and Fevers.—This vexatious complaint, like all others, is caused by the impurity of the blood.—Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are a certain cure for Fever and Ague, because they purze from the body those bilious humors which are the cause not only of all kinds of fevers, but of every malady incident to man. From four to six of said Indian Vegetable Pills, taken is hours preceding every chill, will, in a short time, subdue the most obstinate attack of Chills and Fever; at the same time the digestive organs will be restored to a bealthy tone, and the body so completely invigorated that Fever and Ague, or indeed any other malady, will be in a manner impossible.
